Storey County Receives $48,000 in Donations from EdgeCore Digital Infrastructure

Virginia City, NV—Storey County is pleased to announce a generous donation from EdgeCore Digital Infrastructure totaling $48,000 to support critical county services. This contribution includes $24,000 to the Health & Community Services Department and $24,000 to the Storey County Sheriff's Office.

The donation will significantly enhance community programs and ensure the continued robustness of essential services.

The Health & Community Services Department will utilize the funds to expand outreach efforts, particularly for veterans' employment services, food and nutritional care, and other vital support initiatives. Meanwhile, the Storey County Sheriff's Department will invest in new portable radios and accessories, enhancing their communication systems.

William Jabjiniak, Senior Vice President of National Community Engagement at EdgeCore, stated, "We recognize the critical role that effective communication plays in ensuring the safety and efficiency of law enforcement operations. We believe the new portable radios will provide officers with reliable, advanced communication tools, enabling them to respond more effectively to emergencies and coordinate their efforts more efficiently. Additionally, we are proud to support Storey County Health & Community Services as they expand their programs for veterans' employment services, food and nutritional care, and other essential initiatives. These donations are part of our ongoing commitment to addressing the needs of the communities where we operate and integrating ourselves into the community fabric."

Sheriff Mike Cullen of Storey County expressed his gratitude for the contribution, emphasizing the importance of the new communication tools for local law enforcement:

“The donation from EdgeCore is greatly appreciated and will directly assist in purchasing much-needed handheld radios. These radios are essential for our deputies to safely and effectively communicate with dispatch, each other, and other agencies. By partnering with businesses and community members, we are able to build positive relationships and provide professional services that ultimately create a safer Storey County for everyone.”

Stacy York, Director of Health & Community Services, echoed this sentiment, adding, “I am so thankful for the generous donation provided by EdgeCore to improve the health and safety of the Storey County population. This new partnership is just a beginning, and we are looking forward to seeing the progress and success with this initiative.”

Lara Mather, Director of Business Development, also highlighted the broad impact of these funds on county operations: “These donations will have a direct impact on our residents' well-being and the safety of our county. The funds for the Health & Community Services Department will enhance our programs and resources, ensuring continued support for our residents, while the new communication tools for the Sheriff’s Department will bolster our law enforcement officers' capabilities.”

EdgeCore Digital Infrastructure continues to be a valued partner in Storey County, demonstrating unwavering dedication to community growth and well-being.
